Overview

What is a containerized system?

Containerized systems have been used for decades in the telecommunications industry, for instance to deploy data centers and mobile base stations in rural or remote areas. Standard intermodal freight containers can be shipped anywhere in the world in a period of weeks at relatively low cost.

Can archipelagos transform energy grids into hybrid energy systems?

Archipelagos face logistical challenges in meeting their electricity and other power infrastructure needs, as remote communities are particularly difficult and costly to service. These realities help make a strong case for transforming existing energy grids into hybrid renewable energy systems that reach everywhere.

What are containerized solutions?

Containerized solutions, featuring a package of renewable generation, batteries, power converters, a control system, cooling and ventilation, and fire protection—all housed in modified shipping containers—are a logical way to achieve economies of scale.

Can a modular desalination plant be integrated into a containerized microgrid?

A modular desalination plant integrated into a containerized microgrid offers a unique solution for improving energy access and addressing water constraints in such remote locations. Overall control of the desalination operation can be done remotely by an intelligent, integrated energy and process management system.
