

Emergency lighting solar container lithium battery pack

Overview

---

Why do emergency lighting systems need lithium batteries?

Emergency lighting systems must, therefore, be supplied with sufficient power at all times during a mains voltage failure. Our lithium batteries represent a significant step forward, as they contain no harmful heavy metals such as cobalt and are, therefore, more environmentally friendly than their counterparts.

How many lumens does a packlite Max 2 in 1 charge?

Our best-selling light: the PackLite Max 2-in-1 Phone Charger provides up to 150 lumens of bright LED light on Turbo mode. On a single charge, the light can run for 50 hours on Low mode or recharge your phone 75-100%.

What are the risks of lithium ion batteries?

Potential risks of these battery types are the chemical reactivity of certain lithium technologies, which Tridonic has been analysing since 2013, in numerous performance tests examining high temperatures, flames, and mechanical damage. Properties:.
