

New Zealand energy storage fire equipment manufacturer

Overview

Which energy company is building New Zealand's first grid-connected battery energy storage system?

Meridian Energy is building New Zealand's first large-scale grid-connected battery energy storage system (BESS) at Ruakākā on North Island. On January 10, 2023, Saft, a subsidiary of TotalEnergies, has been awarded a major contract by Meridian Energy to construct New Zealand's first large-scale grid-connected BESS.

What are Kokam's Energy Storage Systems?

Kokam, with over 150 patent listings, specialises in Energy Storage Systems. They were the first to develop high capacity lithium-ion polymer batteries worldwide. With the rise of grid-connected renewable energy sources, Kokam's systems have been recognised as the most effective solution.

Is Hazero flammable storage NZS-compliant?

Hazero's compliant flammable storage solutions protect your workforce, prevent disasters, and stay NZS-compliant. 1 in 3 manufacturing fires starts with improper storage. Lithium-ion batteries grab headlines, but flammable liquids and gases pose a far deadlier risk in your factory.

What type of equipment do FirePro systems protect?

FirePro total flooding fire suppression systems installed in both Power Conversion Systems (PCS) and Energy Storage Systems (ESS) protect mission critical high-voltage electrical equipment. These systems were installed at Newman (W.A.) and Ballarat (Vic) to offer peace of mind to operators in case of a fire emergency.
