Overview

What is solar-reflecting glass block?

Solar-reflecting glass block is made with protective cover films for applications, that protect against UV radiation and reduce overheating in the summer. The solar reflecting option reduces heat loss from the building in the winter. In the summer it reduces overheating of the interior and also protects against UV radiation.

Are 'build solar' blocks better than traditional glass blocks?

Dr. Hasan Baig, founder of Build Solar and a researcher at the Institute for Environment and Sustainability at the University of Exeter, explains in an article on the university website that the blocks invented by the group have better thermal insulation than traditional glass blocks, besides supplying energy to the building.

Can a glass block be used to build a house?

Renewable energy experts from the University of Exeter in England have developed a glass block with built-in solar cells. The idea is that with the spread of technology, it is possible to build a house or a whole building's facade using blocks that generate energy.

What is solar glass?
